a taste of Blue Jelly

With bold and innovative plans to modernise and improve their health and social care services, their antiquated offices no longer provided a suitable series of bases.

MCCCH had shortlisted a recently completed sympathetic out house conversion. Blue Jelly were initially introduced by the developer due to our considerable track record in delivering projects for charity and 'not for profit' organisations.

Detailed furniture audits and in-depth team consultations were carried out to arrive at the right level of budget for 'One Hermitage'.

Other key elements of development involved a well considered application of brand and openness. A successful outcome centred on providing a light, open and accessible environment which creates a feeling of inclusion and support.

The outcome has been well received and successfully blends innovative forms and facilities with realistic specification levels and appropriate re-use.
