Lenovo is a PC manufacturing giant with an extensive network of 'World Sourcing' partnerships spanning China, Poland, Mexico and India to name a few.

Working alongside the real estate management conglomerate, Jones Lang Lasalle, who took the lead role of Project Management and architects, we relocated the UK Sales Headquarters to a prestigious 21,000 sq ft building in Hook, Hampshire.

We often work closely alongside other specialists in our field, like architects and project managers; they use us when we're right for the team dynamics they require to expedite the project quickly and cost effectively. In this case worldwide standards for space planning and branding created by Gensler were also adhered to.

Our broad range of expertise has put us in the privileged position of working with a wide spectrum of organisation types; leading global concerns through to creative, innovative and cutting-edge entrepreneurs. Every challenge different, every solution bespoke. For Lenovo we implemented the worldwide corporate design, space planning and specification guidelines. We fitted the building out to include carpet, electrical, data, partitions, lighting and joinery. As part of the integrated specialist team we also worked alongside Steelcase Solutions, the worldwide furniture provider. On the technical side we installed a Systemax data installation with its specific requirements for conduits and protective matting.
