

🔍 CASE STUDY

Global pharmaceutical
Brand

New European HQ Marlow,
Buckinghamshire

Fit Out and furniture of 36,000 sqft

Full 'Turnkey' solution

Defining a global workplace
'Blue print'

Working alongside clients
own Project Manager

WHAT'S THE STORY?

Global pharmaceutical company Amicus, have a story that is profound and moving. Their CEO was driven to succeed by a disease which beset his own sons. Fortunately their story is one of hope, as success has indeed been made with a number of leading medical products.

This path has caused significant growth to their business and as such, a new home was needed to support an expansion of people and services throughout the world.

Blue Jelly were invited to take part in a competitive pitch and from the outset we felt an affinity and passion for what they were driven to create.

At 'Globeside' a wonderful new European HQ has been created which serves as a true benchmark for what a Positive Workplace can be and what it can deliver to support a business's ethos.

Facilities include a wellbeing suite complete with staff gym & studio, a mixed format meeting suite, open business lounge, all day staff canteen and much more. It even utilises the very latest 'intelligent' sound masking systems linked to waterfalls which modulate sound based on the ambient background noise caused by speech.

Such has been the reaction that we now look forward to collaborating on international Amicus facilities to 'roll out' the design concept further.

